BIG CROWDS FOR THE CLOSING DAY

AFTERNOON CHAUTAUQUA PERFORMANCE HAS SPECIAL APPEAL

BAUMGARDT IN RECITAL

Says no Life on Moon and That There Cannot Be—And There Are no Canals on Mars

The crowds for the closing day of the chautauqua were large. Most of the seats in the tent were taken at both the afternoon and evening programs yesterday. The afternoon program had a special appeal in that a part of it was put on by children of Maryville, who appeared under the direction of Miss Mary McLean, in a pageant. The pageant was worked up in Junior Town, which had been existing each morning for several days.

Miss McLean was in charge of the Junior Town work and she has been considerably complimented for the work that she did with the children. It is said to be remarkable what she did with them in the short time she had to prepare the program. One of the duties of Junior Town was to teach the children to be quiet and mannerly at the chautauqua and this task was pretty well performed.

Other features on the afternoon program were the Marionettes who played "Jack and the Beanstalk" and Paul Clemens, who gave a Punch and Judy performance.

B. R. Baumgardt gave an illustrated recital last night called "An Evening With The Stars." He opened his evening with a short talk regarding the wonders of the universe. He was somewhat hampered in this by the fact that he has an accent which made him a little hard to understand. But when the pictures came on they showed some wonderful facts about the stars, the sun and the moon that we look at so many nights without thinking of the wonders thereof.

It is Mr. Baumgardt's opinion that there is no life on the moon and there cannot be life on it. In the past ages it probably had water and vegetation the same that the earth has today but this time is past. There is no water on the moon, there is no vegetation, there is nothing but extinct volcanoes, deserts and rocks.

The theory is often advanced that there is life on Mars and it is pointed out that there are canals running about to give water in the barren places. Mr. Baumgardt says that there is nothing to this theory. He says that people can imagine that they see what they want to see. The best photographs that have ever been made of Mars show no canals.

If the North Star should be blotted out it would be forty-four years before the people of the earth would know of it, in spite of the fact that light would travel eight times around the earth in a second, so great is its speed.

Mr. Baumgardt said that it is possible that the epidemics that come on the earth at times when the physicians are at a loss to know from whence they came are due to the fact that the earth is passing through the invisible tail of some comet like that of the Halley comet. There might be something in the vapor of the tail that would cause the disease.

PIERCE MENTIONED FOR STATE CHAIRMAN

Friends of Hyde and Brewster Favor Maryville Man to Head Party Organization.

W. C. Pierce of Maryville is being prominently mentioned for chairman of the Republican State Committee, by friends of Governor Hyde and R. R. Brewster, Republican candidate for senator. It is understood that Pierce does not want the place as he has declined it several times in years gone by.

The state administration forces are preparing to fight for control of the Republican state committee. Reports from out in the state are that the "old guard" faction which unhorsed in the Republican "house cleaning" movement in 1920, will attempt to control the new state committee. The committee meets September 12 to elect a chairman.

WOLFERS APPOINTS MEMBERS TO CO-OPERATE IN PROGRAM

Miss Rose, Mr. Todd and Dr. Fryer are Chairmen of Three Committees.

Fred Wolfers, president of the Maryville Chamber of Commerce, has appointed three members of that organization to act as chairmen of three committees which will cooperate with the National Chamber of Commerce in the development of a national program for the prevention of fire, prevention of accident and the conservation of health.

Miss Virginia Rose will be chairman of the fire prevention committee, H. C. Todd, chairman of the accident prevention committee and Dr. Claude P. Fryer, county health officer, chairman of the health conservation committee.

The chairmen of these three committees will appoint the other members with whom they wish to work. They will work together in the carrying out of the local campaigns and will co-operate with the national officials in carrying out the national program of work. The Chamber of Commerce will receive the literature to be used in these campaigns and in some instances the chairmen will receive additional literature.

Last year this county received $40,531.39. The amount will be divided among the school districts of the county in proportion to their attendance.

In 1921 the total amount for disbursement to the schools was $4,934,955.42. This year the total available for the schools was $5,146,839.55 from which has been deducted a total of $531,378.76 for the following purposes provided by law:

Deducted for industrial rehabilitation $11,780.76.

These deductions left for apportionment to the city of St. Louis and the 114 counties on the basis of teachers employed and average attendance of pupils, $4,522,236.09.

After the same deductions were made last year the total net amount opportioned for 1921 was $4,422,114.98.

The total teacher quota for the state under the apportionment this year is $1,517,275.00 and the total attendance quota is $2,820,515.09.

95 CHILDREN ARE EXAMINED AT ELMO

HEALTH OFFICER COMPLIMENTS THE TOWN

WHEN NEGLECT CHILDREN

It is the Time Between Two Years of Age and When They Start to School

With the fifty-seven children who were examined at the last day of the Elmo picnic, yesterday, the total number of children cared for by the health department during the picnic reached ninety-five, and were representative of four states, Missouri, Nebraska, Iowa and South Dakota.

"You can trust Elmo to go over the top in anything; all you have to do is to tell them that you want a thing done and they do it," said Dr. Claude P. Fryer, county health officer, in speaking of the work done at Elmo. He was assisted yesterday by Mrs. Grace Bean, county health nurse and Miss Ethel Ray.

Thirty school children, seventeen infants and ten pre-school children were examined yesterday and it was found that six infants who were re-examined had all made decided gains in weight since their examination about three weeks ago. Mrs. Bean said that it was important for infants to make the normal gain.

Pre-school children, those between the ages of two and six years, are the most neglected of children, Mrs. Bean said this morning. When the children are still infants the mothers take unusually good care of them but by the time they reach the ages of two years they are big enough to get around without so much care and as long as they can toddle across the house the mothers let them look after themselves. Consequently they are often neglected.

Seventeen school children were found yesterday to be under weight and 12 had defective teeth.

Among the corrections which it was found had been made were four cases of tonsils and four of adenoids removed and one pair of glasses fitted.

The health department is planning on having a large clinic during the Ravenwood picnic because of the number of babies which it is expected that the baby show will bring there.

TOTAL RECEIPTS $2,697.85 FOR THE CHAUTAUQUA

This is $155.85 More Than the List Price With the Company—Half to Local Committee

The total amount of money taken in for season tickets to the chautauqua, for single admissions and for reserved seats was $2,697.85, according to information given today by H. C. Todd, chairman of the guarantors. This was $155.85 more than the actual price of the chautauqua as listed by the Redpath-Vawter Company, the actual price being $2,542. Half of this $155 goes to the company and the other half to the local committee. The local committee has had expenses amounting to perhaps $10 and will have, after this is paid, approximately $65.

Following is the way the money came in.

For season tickets sold by the workers in Maryville—$1,915.75.

For season tickets sold by the company after the opening of the chautauqua—$23.75.

For reserved seats—$143.85.

For single admissions—$614.50.

The big days for the single admissions were Tuesday, when $196.70 was taken in in this way, and Thursday when the amount was $282.70.

The total number of season tickets sold was 795 for adults and 127 for children.

CLOSE SUCCESSFUL CHAUTAUQUA WEEK

CONTRACT SIGNED FOR ONE NEXT YEAR

ROY HANNA CHAIRMAN

Dick Hotchkin Is Vice-Chairman and Will Have Charge of Ticket Sales

The Maryville chautauqua for 1922 has come and gone and with it a week of education, pleasure and amusement looked foreward to the year around by hundreds of people in Maryville and the surrounding territory. That the Chautauqua this year has been a success is indicated by the fact that the largest number of signers secured for next year on this circuit was obtained in Maryville. The number is approximately 225, while the average number for a town, according to Manager Christian, is about 100.

There have been strong features in the program and there have been weak ones. It is not possible to please everyone. Some of the numbers along the entertainment line were of such a nature that they did not appeal to some of the people, while they were the greatest delight to others. In the line of education two or three of the numbers were as good as one could hope to hear. One of the outstanding of these was the lecture on "What Europe is Thinking and Doing Today" by D. Thomas Curtain.

The contract for the chautauqua for next year was signed yesterday afternoon at the meeting of the board of directors selected from among the guarantors for next year. Present at this meeting were J. R. Evans, Emmett Scott, G. B. Roseberry, D. E. Hotchkin, A. T. Estes, H. C .Todd and J. R. Lowry. Roy Hanna was elected chairman of the guarantors and D. E. Hotchkin was elected vice-chairman and is to have charge of the ticket sales. Mr. Hanna was chosen as the delegate to attend the chautauqua meeting at Cedar Rapids in November, with Mr. Hotchkin as alternate.

By 1:15 o'clock last night the chautauqua tent was all down and the property loaded on the cars. The property will go to Memphis in charge of the property man, Paul Grigsby and the cover will go to Chillicothe. The other members of the crew, G. W. Mathews, George Gardiner and Miss Mary McLean went to Chillicothe. Manager Christian went to Macon, where he will make arrangements for the chautauqua to be held there a week from now.

Mr. Christian expressed thanks at the opening of the program last night to the guarantors, those who sold tickets, to the people of Maryville who have co-operated in the chautauqua work, Miss Sadie Neal and Miss Mildred Massie, who ushered for the reserved seat section, and to the tent crew. He said that he and Mrs. Christian had spent a pleasant time in Maryville and that he hoped that it would be his lot to come here with the chautauqua again. Mr. Christian is superintendent of schools at Denison, Texas, during the winter.

THOMAS GIVEN 90 DAYS IN JAIL

PLEADED GUILTY TO BOGUS CHECK CHARGE

HALL ON LIQUOR CHARGE

Hopkins Man's Place Was Searched and Liquor and a Piece of Copper Coil Found.

Robert Thomas was arrested last evening on a charge of issuing a bogus check for $10 which he had given to F. W. Steele. He pleaded guilty to the charge before Justice of Peace W. L. Johnson this afternoon and was given a sentence of ninety days in the county jail. Thomas has been chef at the Pennington cafe.

J. W. Hall, "Granny," was arrested last night by Sheriff Steve Roach and Deputy Leo Atherton on a charge of possession of intoxicating liquor. These officers had obtained a search warrant to search Hall's place in Hopkins and they found some liquor in a bottle, about enough for two good drinks, and a piece of copper coil, probably connected with a still. Hall's bond was placed at $300 and it was stated he would give it this afternoon for his appearance in circuit court at the September term.

HOMEGROWN WATERMELON SEASON IS NOW ON US

Lon Pitts of Near Quitman Has a Nice Lot of Watermelons—Picked 40 Yesterday.

The season for the homegrown watermelons is here, according to Roy A. Kinnaird, county farm agent, who just returned this afternoon from a visit to the farm of Lon Pitts, near Quitman. He says that Mr. Pitts has a nice lot of melons of excellent quality.

Mr. Pitts picked about forty melons yesterday and is picking again today. His patch was sprayed this spring under the direction of Mr. Kinnaird as a demonstration on the control of melon lice and beetles. The melon crop around Quitman this year is short because at the time that Mr. Pitts sprayed his patch with black leaf 40 this spring there was not enough of the spray to give the other patches a good spray of the solution.

Mr. Pitts' patch was in the same condition as other patches at that time but the spray killed off the insects and he has a patch of good melons now where other patches which did not get the treatment have been virtually destroyed by the pests.

SOME ONE "TOUCHED" SHERIFF AND MRS. ROACH AGAIN

Last Time It Was Frying Chickens and This Time It Is Ladies Shoes and Arch Supports

Someone surely must have it in for Sheriff and Mrs. Steve A. Roach. About six weeks ago they made a raid on the chickens which were just the right size to fry and yesterday some one stole Mrs. Roach's shoes while they were at the Elmo picnic.

Mrs. Roach said this morning that she would be willing to let them have the shoes but the arch supports which were in the shoes are of vital importance to her comfort and she would like to have them returned.

Mrs. Roach wore a paid of suede shoes to the picnic yesterday and because it looked rainy she took a pair of new oxfords with her. They parked the car in front of the home of her cousin, Mr. and Mrs. Allie Bradley, while they went to the picnic and when they returned the oxfords were missing. Evidently the person who took the shoes didn't want any other wearing apparel because the shoes were buried under Mrs. Roach's rain coat and the sheriff's coat. A gold headed umbrella in the car with the wraps was not taken.

Five-Cent Sandwiches

Ford City, Pa., Aug. 12.—The five-cent ham sandwich reappeared here the other day in restaurants after several years absence. "We're back to normalcy," chirruped some of the hungry ones. R. R. PLANS TO THE PRESIDENT

WILL BE PRESENTED LATE THIS AFTERNOON.

TELEGRAPHERS VOTING

Indications Were These Men Would Go Out—Tie-up on Santa Fe in California.

New York, Aug. 12.—A compromise plan neither surrendering the position of the railroads nor rejecting flatly the plan of the president, is suggested for peace in the rail strike. It is to be presented to the President at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon by a committee of railroad executives. An official statement issued by the executives is non-communicative but indicates that the executives who favored complete rejection lost the fight while those who favor acceptance were forced to make heavy compromises to avoid a conference deadlock.

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 12.—Indications that the railroad telegraphers are voting unanimously in favor of a strike were announced by Edward Whalen, chairman of the telegraphers' division. All the ballots are expected to be in today. This is done in spite of the fact that the United States Railway Labor Board has set the date for a hearing of the telegraphers case.

Washington, Aug. 12.—Highly important series of White House conferences bringing all the principal figures of the railway strike situation loomed this afternoon as the time neared for the railway executives and the shopmen replies to the President's proposals.

President Harding has summoned Ben W. Hooper, chairman of the railway labor board, to the conference today.

Cleveland, Aug. 12.—President Lee of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen denied this afternoon he had ordered the striking brotherhood men on the Santa Fe railroad to return to work. The report was false, he said.

San Francisco, Aug. 12.—The transcontinental passenger and freight traffic is tied up completely today on the Western Pacific railroad. An embargo was announced on perishables. Two trains with passengers are stalled at Stockton. The railroad is endeavoring to get the passengers here.

Washington, Aug. 12.— The tieup on the Santa Fe Railroad necessitates the rerouting of the mails over the Southern Pacific, it was officially announced at the postoffice department today. It is believed that the tieup will last but a few days.

St. Louis, Aug. 12.—Rending the result of the conference between the committee representing the members of the Big Four brotherhoods and officials of the Missouri Pacific railroad, three hundred men walked out here today on a strike, but returned to work. It has devoloped that the firing of shots by the railroad guards in Illinois has brought about demands for the removal of guards. One guard is under arrest.

San Francisco, Aug. 12.—Walkouts of trainmen and yardmen at several points on the Western Pacific roads are reported today. Service in the Oakland yards was discontinued when several hundred employes walked out. Similar walkouts have occurred at Stockton and points in Nevada.

Roseville, Cal., Aug. 12—A special federal marshal was wounded and windows of the Southern Pacific round house were shattered when five bombs exploded simultaneously today. According to the marshal two bombs were hurled from an auto and two from outside the surrounding stockade of the yards.

Miss Hazelrigg Leaves

Miss Ella Hazelrigg returned to St. Joseph this afternoon after a visit at the home of Mrs. Paul J. Cook, and family. She came to Maryville from Villisca, Ia., where she had been visiting. Miss Hazelrigg was a former teacher in the Maryville public schools.

SCIENTIFIC ACHIEVEMENT.

Wise statesmen have been largely regarded as the men who have brought the greatest good into daily life, by creating sound and prosperous governments. But in these times public appreciation grows for the great scientific discoverers who are entitled to a place equally high in the hall of fame.

Under this theory a very lofty position in the world's remembrance ought to be assigned to one like Dr. Alexander Graham Bell, inventor of the telephone, whose death has bereft the world of one of its most brilliant minds.

Great statesmen, writers, great philosophers, have always had some weak points. Their achievements look glorious in the light of history, but their contemporaries could see many faults and foibles in them. But there is nothing to detract from the service which the great scientist renders. Every time the business man picks up his telephone and saves himself a day's journey by his marvelous instrument, he owes a debt to the man who has just gone on. Every time the housewife varies the weary routine of her labors by a pleasant social talk with distant friends, she owes the respite from labor to the genius of this great hero of the technical world.

The present development of America would be an impossibility if it had not been for the telephone. It has increased production by eliminating delays and securing prompt action and co-ordination. It has promoted community progress, by making it relatively easy to organize civic movements, and secure the cooperation of large bodies of people.

The American nation should cherish with reverence the fame of the men who toiled and struggled to open up the possibilities of the physical world, and to so direct and shape the forces of nature that they shall be willing servants of men.

The man who is always late often buys things on time.

In the present day disposition to reveal their charms most girls are overlooking the great charm of being able to cook a square meal.

The followers of Breckinridge Long need not feel bad over his defeat. He carried 93 out of 114 counties and it would look like carrying a good thing too far if he had copped any more.

Somebody still is making money. Dividends paid by industrial corporations this month will total $41,525,000. This is only about $2,000,000 less than in August, 1919, during the big boom. The orange is yielding nearly as much juice as ever, but it requires harder squeezing.—Hannibal Courier-Post.

Any man who dreams that the prohibition amendment can be repealed needs only to study the election returns. Governor Mc Rae of Arkansas ran two to one ahead of his competitor on a straight dry platform. In Ohio, the President's friend, Colonel Carmi Thompson, was nominated by a similar vote in a field of nine candidates. Besides being the President's friend, he was the "dry" candidate. The repeal of the amendment is what the lamented Colonel John J. Ingalls of Kansas would call an "irridescent dream."

President Harding has called Congress to meet next Tuesday with a request that they have a quorum and that they remain in session indefinitely. In other words the President wants Congress to come back and do business. Almost at the end of a term of two years of sidestepping and inactivity, he realizes that great and serious problems confront the country and demand immediate attention by Congress. The majority has been apparently content to brush all serious questions aside with the one threadbare explanation that "them Democrats did it." Passing the buck won't satisfy the American public any longer and the President has apparently awakened to that fact. He will attempt to get them to forget the campaign for re-election and get down to business.

Life Is Sweet

What's In A Name?

Washington, Aug. 12.—Several decades ago the name Jesse James was one with which to conjure. It had a magical effect upon one and all and was associated with the most daring mail robberies ever perpetrated in the United States.

When you convince a man against his will he is likely to tell people what a big fool you are.

We can remember the picket fences of our boy hood days and the sport we used to have, when stick in hand, we would run along beside them and let the stick play a tatoo on the pickets. DR. CLAUDE P. FRYER MADE DEPUTY STATE REGISTRAR

Is to Record the Information Regarding Health Matters in County and Sent to State.

The work which is being done by the Nodaway County Health Department received another evidence of the importance which the State Health Department places upon it this morning when Dr. Claude P. Fryer, county health officer, received a letter from the Missouri State Board of Health appointing him as a Deputy State Registrar of Vital Statistics for Nodaway County.

The plan of having the full-time county health officers secure the current information as to the births and deaths in the county is being instituted only in Nodaway, Polk and New Madrid counties.

The local registrars of this county will send all of the information to Dr. Fryer and he will record it and then send the reports with his monthly reports to the State Health Department.

Dr. Fryer is pleased with this plan because it will bring all of the health information into that office and have it consolidated in one place. With this action taken by the state department and the action of the Chamber of Commerce in placing him as chairman of the local committee to co-operate with the National Chamber of Commerce in the work of health conservation the work of the health department will cover quite a broad field.

Part of the duties of the Deputy State Registrar as provided for by the law say that he "shall have the same authority in the enforcement of the vital statistics law in his county as is conferred by law upon the State Registrar; he shall see that all birth and death certificates from his county are executed in accordance with the provisions of the law; he shall recommend to the state registrar removal from office of any local registrar who fails or neglects to discharge efficiently the duties of his office; he shall recommend such combination or division of present registration districts as will increase efficiency; when a vacancy occurs in any registration district, he shall recommend to the State Board of Health for appointment a suitable person as local registrar for such district; —and he shall transmit to the State Registrar not later than the 15th of each month all birth and death certificates filed with him for the preceding month."

AGED MAN ASKS HEART BALM FROM "ALIENATOR"

Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 12.—After twenty-five years of happy married life, T. N. Tanner, seventy, Confederate veteran, alleges that the affections of his wife have been alinated by B. K. Harte.

Now Tanner is suing Harte for $25,000 damages for alienation of his wife's affections.

According to Tanner's charges, he married Feburary 28, 1887, and lived happily with Mrs. Tanner until April, 1921, when, he says, Harte "undermided the foundations of his home by escorting his wife to town daily on the street car, buying her lunches and taking her on automobile rides." He says these things continued until his wife informed him she "loved him no more, only Harte."

Whenever he met Harte and began remonstrating with him about bothering his wife, Tanner says, "the defendant would run away before the conversation could be completed."

CALIFORNIA MAN GRAFTS PRUNE TO APRICOT TREE

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 12.—Luther Burbanks has a rival!

D. W. Barrick, Civil War veteran, of Sawtelle, is celebrating the second greatest event in his life.

The first event was when he marched "with Sherman to the sea," and the second is that he has succeeded in making prunes grow on apricot trees.

Two years ago a veteran soldier grafted prunes onto two apricot trees, and, while the fruit will not be ripe until next month, both trees are literally "full of prunes."

CHECK ARTIST VISITED BARNARD FRIDAY

Got $40.00 Worth of Merchandise and Money on Checks Signed by T. E. Fleming and W. D. Jones

(From Barnard Bulletin)

A bad check artist made the rounds Friday during the picnic and cleaned up a cool $40.00 worth of merchandise and cash from four merchants of Barnard. Checks payable to W. H. Patterson and signed by T. E. Fleming and W. D. Jones were used to secure the goods and the money.

The man purchased a 24-lb sack of flour and some shelled corn from the Farmers Elevator, giving a check for $12.75. The merchandise and change was given him. Stalling-Cook Co. paid to the tune of $7.75, E. F. Smith was stung for $9.50 and Eaton & Son for $10.00. At each place a small purchase was made. A part of the time the man carried a hoe. All the checks were drawn on the Peoples Bank of Maitland, three being signed with the name of T. E. Fleming and one with the name W. D. Jones.

The man was described by the victims as being about 30 years old, about five feet eight inches tall, light complexioned, fairly heavy set, weighing around 170 pounds and wearing kaiki trousers and a farm work shirt. The checks showed that they were given for the purchases made from the man Patterson.

Ray Davis and L. D. Goforth went to see Fleming Wednesday and he was unable to give any information regarding the forgery. Officials at the Peoples Bank of Maitland said that the handwriting resembled that of Fleming's but that it was a clear case of forgery. There was no such person as W. D. Jones and it is thought that the forger attempted to get the name of Wood Jones whose initials are S. A.

A. W. H. Patterson lives in Mound City and is wealthy and about fifty years old and highly respected.

ASKS MORE POWER FOR DEPARTMENT OF LABOR

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 12.—The solution of industrial unrest in Illinois would be materially forwarded by the granting of more power to the State Department of Labor, according to George B. Arnold, director of the department.

Arnold plans to ask the next General Assembly for an amendment to State laws that will give his department the power to call witnesses to testify in Labor Department hearings. The department now holds mediation hearings in labor controversies, but has not the authority to force witnesses to appear.

HOUSES ARE DESIGNED TO CUT DOWN RENTALS

Paris, Aug. 12.—Like a giant staircase, of which each stop is a "floor," or like the base of ancient pyramids are the new model apartment houses which the city of Paris is building to combat the high rent problem.

Each floor of the new houses, of which one series has just been erected in the rue Vavin, and another has just been started in the rue des Amiraux, is set back a little futher from the street. This insures every apartment both a front porch and a sun parlor without the disadvantage of overhanging balconies above.

Code Shields The Size In Retail Shoes

(From Minneapolis Journal)

Here's the secret of the code system used by most stores engaged in the retail sale of shoes.

Instead of the plain numbers which prevailed in the days of less diplomacy in business, an initial code to designate sizes is used to prevent arguments. The women who wears a size 7 but dreams of a size 4 can dream on without pestering the shoe clerk.

"Nine out of 10 who come into shoe stores today don't know the size of the shoe they wear," W. P. Harriman, for 15 years a salesman in the shoe department of Powers Mercantile company, said. "Often men come in and ask for size 6½ and the salesman brings him an 8½ and negotiates the sale. There is no disputing the size. Shoe salesman have a human interest in every customer. When men come in—and we like male customers—all we have to do is to give him a good value, satisfy his vanity and give him comfort. Selling shoes to men is not such a strain on the nerves.

"Men, as a rule, know what they want, while women seldom have any idea what they will purchase when they enter. Men never come into the store unless they are in need of shoes Women often come in and ask us to show them the latest styles. We like to accommodate them, but of course, our job is to sell if possible.

"Price is the last thing men consider. Once the shoe is on the foot, a man will buy if it is comfortable. Not so with a woman. She will ask for something less expensive if the price is considered too high."

FOND OF ODD ORNAMENTS

Savages of New Guinea May Be Picturesque, but Their Society Has Its Drawbacks.

The Kaja Kaja savages of New Guinea, who have a reputation for bravery and are powerfully built, paint their foreheads red or black with white circles around the eyes. Their nostrils are frequently adorned with the claws of birds of prey or the tusks of wild pigs. From the lobes of their ears the most extraordinary variety of objects may be suspended. M. Neyons describes one warrior who proudly wore an old coffee pot as an ear ornament.

The bodies of the natives are usually tattooed with figures in relief. The tattooing necessitates a painful operation in which the patient, stretched on the sand, is literally basted with a sharp bamboo instrument, after which the numerous slashes are filled with a sort of clay.

The Kaja Kaja never bathe; instead, the body is rubbed with a variety of oils which give off an insupportable odor, augmented, it may be added, by the decomposing skins which they wear as arm decorations.

Flowers That Are Weather Prophets.

We hear a good deal of birds and animals as weather prophets, but are apt to overlook the wonderful little barometers which grow at our feet in the fields.

What does daisy mean? Nothing but "day's eye." The daisy opens wide for a fine day, but when rain is coming wraps up its center and protects it by means of folding straylike outer petals over the central, tubular florets.

The dandelion has a similar habit. Best known of all such prophetical plants is the scarlet pimpernel, the "poor man's weather glass," which is really a capital barometer. If it opens wide in the morning, you can safely bet against rain before night. When chickwood flowers are fully open, you are safe from rain for many hours, but when on a seemingly fair morning the tiny blooms are slow to disclose themselves, then it will rain before sundown.

"Bird of Passage."

The earliest use of the term "bird of passage" is found in eighteenth book of the Natural History of Pliny the Elder (23-27 A. D.), where he says: "The bird of passage known to us as the cuckoo," and the term has since been applied to birds which migrate with a season from a colder to a warmer, or from a warmer to a colder climate, divided into summer birds of passage and winter birds of passage. Such birds always breed in the country to which they resort in summer, that is, in the colder of their homes.

The term is said to have been first applied to sailors by Bacon, who declared that the uncertainty, the instability and fluctuating stage of human life was most aptly represented by those sailing the ocean.—Exchange.

Curious Chinese "Copy Book."

A curious kind of copy book is used by Chinese children. The ideographs are so complicated that a youngster cannot copy them freehand, but must begin by tracing them from a model, as American children trace maps. An ordinary copy book such as is used in the lower grades has no space for the children to write. The pages are entirely covered with copy. Eight characters are generally shown on one page, each in a square, and each made about ten times the size of ordinary writing.

Over this copy is placed tracing paper and the character is drawn as accurately as possible.

The books are written in black and corrected in red ink by the schoolmasters.

HAD THE SNAKE HYPNOTIZED

South African Native Surely Exercised Some Kind of Influence Over Big Python.

Many powers are said to be possessed by the African native which those of the Occident find it hard to credit. Here is a story of "Muti," or hypnosis, as performed, according to a reliable informant, upon a huge python. The narrator says:

"I was in the veld when the herd boy, very excited, came to me with the story of a big inyoko, 'quite near.' I saddled up, took the shotgun, and went back with him. After covering some 200 yards, I asked where the snake was. 'Quite near, baas.' We covered a mile, which meant that the herd boy must have left the snake quite a time, possibly half an hour. I pulled up. 'The snake won't be where you saw it last, it's no good my going farther.' 'Yes, baas, come, it is there.' 'How do you know?' 'I made him stay fast, baas—I put muti on him.' So we went on, and, quite two miles from where I had started, the boy pointed up a small valley. 'He is there, baas,' and sure enough there was a python lying straight out on the grass and quite still. I shot it, and then turned to the boy: 'Now tell me why did the snake remain like this.' The boy picked up a twig from a bush, ran it between his lips, and stuck it in the ground an inch from the snake's nose. 'I do so, baas, an' the inyoko, he lay still. He no move.'"

The reptile remained with its eyes fixed cross-wise on the small twig before its nose. The distance from the stable was quite two miles, so that the python must have been staring at the twig for a full hour before the farmer reached it.

C. M. WOOD, HOPKINS, BACK FROM JEFFERSON BARRACKS

Says Boys in C. M. T. C. Are Having Good Time and Don't Have to Work Hard

C. M. Wood of Hopkins returned yesterday from Jefferson Barracks, where he had been a member of Company H of the Citizens Military Training corps for the past two weeks. The camp continues for two weeks longer, but Wood was discharged on account of a stiffness in his hips.

At the camp there are 1,500 men from Missouri and Arkansas. Sixteen of these are from Nodaway county. Of this number seven are from Hopkins. The Hopkins boys besides Wood are Clay Wolverton, Clare Ingram, Harry Shinabargar, Lynn Webb, Byron Young and Buster Wooldridge.

Mr. Wood says that the drills were not hard or severe and that the boys are having a good time. They have the best of "eats" and some amusements. There is a picture show in the camp three times a week and there are two canteens at which they can stand in line for ice cream cones and whatever else they want to buy. The Missouri Theatre in Forest Park admits all the boys in uniform free of charge on Saturday and Sunday of each week.

HAYWOOD SCOTT CONCEDES NOMINATION OF WHITE AND WALKER

From the returns now in, it is apparent to me that Judge White and Judge Walker, have been nominated as the two democratic candidates for the Supreme Court bench, Division Two.

As a defeated candidate, speaking of the successful ones, I repeat what I said all over the state, throughout the primary election campaign: "My opponents are good men—worthy of the support of the people." Now, that two of them are nominated, I add to that statement that I hope and believe the successful candidates will be elected along with the entire ticket. I shall lend all the aid I can. I have no feeling of resentment toward anybody, in fact, nothing but a deep feeling of gratitude toward those who supported my candidacy. I thank them all. I also thank the newspaper men. The press of the entire State both daily and weekly, treated me well. I feel that I should take this opportunity to express to the newspaper men of the State my appreciation of their uniform kindness and courtesy. This was my first campaign for a State office, but it has been a pleasant experience. It has been a pleasure to me to extend my acquaintance among so many thousands of the best people on earth, Missourians.

Joplin, Mo., August 12, 1922.

(Signed) Haywood Scott.

Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Montgomery and baby daughter, Dorothy Lee, went to St. Joseph this morning to spend several days at the home of Mr. Montgomery's sister, Mrs. Sam Houston, and family.
